

TO INVESTIGATE SAMOA RULE

Visitor Tells of Removal of Native Governors

By Terhune

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13.—Removal of two native governors of American Samoa by Governor Wilson, who administration will be investigated by Rear-Admiral Charles F. Hughes and a commission ordered to the islands by Secretary Daniels, was told here today by Mrs. S. S. Wiley of Richmond, Calif., who just returned from Tutuila.

"Mauga, native governor of the eastern division, and Batolo, native governor of the western division, were displaced by Governor Wilson in August, against the wishes of the Samoans," said Mrs. Wiley. "They were charged by Governor Terhune with disloyalty to the administration. The natives are much hurt and regard this as a continuation of oppression."

"Lieto and Faiva have been appointed native governors, and they are not welcomed."

"The Samoans are a peaceful and quiet-loving people. They celebrated the nineteenth anniversary of Christianity in the island while I was there. They are eager for education for development of the island and their homes, and the future of their children."

Admiral Hughes, aboard the battleship Kansas, with a board of inquiry in due at Tutuila November 2, to conduct an investigation into the administration and all conditions in the islands.

Commander Terhune, who has been ordered removed as governor with Captain Walter Evans as successor, will remain at the islands until the completion of the inquiry.

He charged that if the advertisements told the truth the distillers were "violating the laws of a friendly nation."

SEE FINANCIAL SUCCESS AHEAD FOR 14TH FAIR

$46,445.35 Receipts at Gates, Grandstands
and Park.

Concessions and Exhibit
Space Still to Be Added

Total receipts from the gates, grandstands, automobile parking and parcel checking station at the Fresno County Fair this year were $46,445.35, Secretary H. E. Patterson reported to the board of directors of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce at their meeting yesterday noon at the Commercial Club.

This report was based on the accounts furnished to the management of the fair by Burdick and Baker, accountants. While this does not represent any means the entire amount of receipts from the fourteenth annual fair, the manager reported to the board that he believed that there would be no deficit this year. Other sources of receipts, he believed that all the expenses of the fair can be met and the balance remain on the right side of the ledger.

Unanimous endorsement of the report was given by the board, which calls for the increasing of the interest rate on unsold portions of the $400,000 state highway bond issue so that the bonds will be saleable.

Asks Survey County Hospital By State

The Fresno county department of public welfare met yesterday and passed a resolution requesting that the state board of charities and corrections make a survey of the county hospital and the old people's home and outline a constructive policy of development in connection with these institutions. A copy of the resolution was sent to the board of charities and corrections yesterday.

The local department of public welfare is in need of clothing for the poverty-stricken families in Fresno during the winter and persons having clothing are urged to donate it to the department.

ELYSIAN CLUB TO MEET
The regular meeting of the Elysian club will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the club house. Nomination and election of a new director will take place at this time to fill the vacancy left by the former director, Burke Sarafian.

Voted yesterday by the directors. This is the amendment which the chamber passed in assisting to secure the necessary names for the positions in the county and consequently the directors decided not only to endorse the amendment but to work actively for carrying the measure at the polls. Within a few days, the chamber will have a supply of automobile wind shield stickers on the amendment ready for distribution.

The fourth Red Cross Roll Call drive received the unanimous support of the chamber directors and the body will co-operate with the Red Cross in this drive to secure the signatures of the district association. A quota set at 25,000, the number secured last year. A. A. Train will be the active manager of the drive under the direction of chairman Judge Carl E. Lindsay and the officers is to be opened at the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce.

CONFERENCE OF G. O. P. CHIEFS FOR CAMPAIGN

Benjamin, State Leader,
Opens Drive Here
For Shortridge

Tells Republicans Vote
For Phelan Is Vote
Against Harding

"To vote for Senator Harding with one vote and to vote for a Democrat to senator with another vote is but a betrayal of Harding, for with that one vote the voter approves of Harding and indicates his wish that Harding should have control of the government and put into effect his policies and with the other vote for a Democratic candidate for the senate the voter votes to cripple Harding and prevent him from putting his policy into effect, to take away from the Republican party upon which Senator Harding must rely for the support of his policies, the control of committee by the majority of the vote in the senate that the Republican party should have with Senator Harding as our president."

Thus spoke Raymond Benjamin, western assistant to National Chairman Will Hays, and chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, to the Republican leaders at the San Joaquin Valley assembly in Fresno yesterday. Continuing Mr. Benjamin said:

"I want the people of the San Joaquin Valley to know that Senator Harding desires the election of Mr. Shortridge and that by the election

Rainfall Settles Water Complaint

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Recent rainfall in the Sacramento Valley today influenced the state railroad commission to dismiss a complaint by the Grizzly Land & Irrigation Company that it was entitled to its water when it should be entitled to the existing water shortage situation.

of Mr. Shortridge we will insure the favor for California of the next President. The decision rests with us whether we will give Senator Harding the control of the Senate so essential to him and this makes sure of his attitude for whether we will present the sorry spectacle of being so impractical as to select Senator Harding to do the work for us and then prevent him having that duty mentally through which the work must be done.

"Any person who should vote for Senator Harding, should vote for Shortridge. There is no excuse for doing otherwise and certainly no justification for doing otherwise."

"The Republican party has a majority of four one vote in the United States senate today, and any untoward accident to one Republican representative would leave the party without control of the senate."

"If the wheels on the right side of an engine are going in one direction and the wheels on the left side of the engine are turning in the opposite direction, the engine can but spin around in a circle and get no where and this condition would be borne out by having a Republican President and a Democratic senate."

"If an accident that the people of Fresno and the San Joaquin valley will vote for Shortridge for senator in place of any personal preference they may have for any reason, that may be advanced on behalf of his opponent."

"What we want is to elect the straight Republican ticket from Senator Harding down to that the next President, a Republican, will have the united backing of a Republican congress," concluded Mr. Benjamin.

The Quota*

One of the lessons of the war was the use of the quota.

Had you thought of any other method that would have raised the millions of men and the billions of dollars or saved the wheat, the sugar or the tin foil?

Suppose you planned any national movement that required individual acquiescence or support—how could you proceed without the quota system?

And as an individual, how can you gage your opportunities or your duties against any national scheme without the quota?

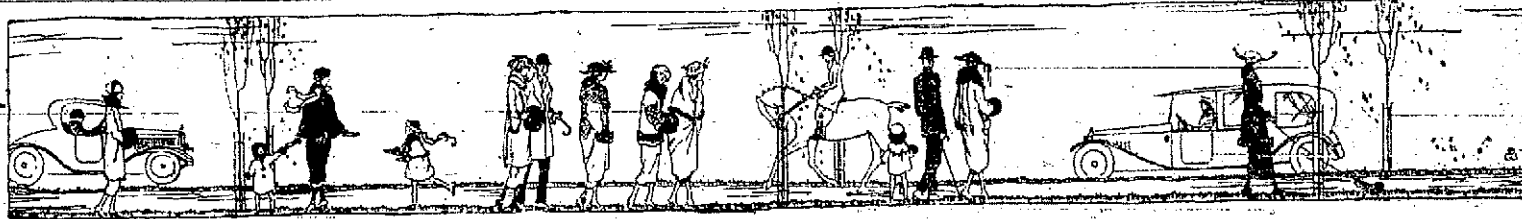

In mapping out an advertising campaign, a basic quota system will predetermine future policies and expenditures on the one plan that not only avoids waste but stimulates healthy competition.

KNOW WHAT STATE WANTS

One of the very plain reasons for passing proposition No. 12 on the ballot this November is that it gives the people of California a specific, approved, concrete opportunity to spend their money in a way that they are virtually in agreement that it should be spent. Usually matters of expenditure are too detailed for the average citizen to know even his own affairs. The most mathematical and systematic business man, with a corps of bookkeepers and cashiers, has a harrowing time to know what became of that last $10 he had in his pocket, or whether he can afford to repair his house this season. How much more difficult would it be, apparently, for the democracy of California, of its own initiative, to know how to finance an "institution." It could not decide quickly and accurately whether South Hall should be continued as a scientific laboratory or whether its location requires its removal and the erection of a new lecture hall there at once. The state cannot determine with justice whether Professor Smith should continue to lecture to 1,200 students, at one lecture, or whether good scholarship requires that the economics staff be given an addition to its salary roll to permit smaller classes. But the thing that it does know, and know specifically, is that on technical advice and after free discussion, it wants to give $1.30 per thousand dollars assessed valuation on its property list for the continuance of this state institution, the money to be spent on a system that has worked admirably for a half century and which can be revoked at two years' notice.

This is, for such a well understood and specific purpose, the best feature of a budget system. If a man earning so much a year decides in advance that he shall afford such a percentage of it to educate his children, his only difficulty in carrying it out may be his bookkeeping and other business arrangements. The state is laboring under no such limitation. It has the technical staff to manage. All that it has required, so far, is the constitutional permission to adopt this method, instead of having the president of the University lobby each year for an appropriation, which has to take its chance in the legislative accidents of a hurried session.

Nothing has been more valuable to the State University than this opportunity to present to the people of the state its case, on proposition No. 12. The people understand it and can act on it. It can be made an equitable part of the state taxation system by the lawful and usual operations of the legislature and the state board of control. It ought to pass both as a vote of confidence in the University and as an act of judgment by the people on their direct responsibility to higher education.

COAL BIN ENDANGERED

National anxiety will be relieved if the operators of coal companies and the unions of coal miners can get together, as urged by President Wilson, on Monday next, for an adjustment of any differences that threaten to interfere with the orderly mining of the necessary quantity of coal for the coming winter. No peril that faces the nation is so painful and so disturbing to orderly society as the cutting off of fuel. It does not appear that there is any serious interference with the coal supply as yet from lack of natural resources. The difficulties are those of rising cost of living, of output and of expanding demands by the owner.

There are two primary principles that can be applied to this coal situation, the one as against the owners, the others as against the workmen. Neither side has been clearly proved to have violated them; so that the public judgment on both of them is held in abeyance.

First, while the rights of ownership should be recognized, they should be recognized with reference to the need of the public for coal, and on a basis of initial claim, not of unearned increment. When the pinch comes as between the lack of coal and the need of the consumers, the latter will have to pay for increased costs of bringing coal to the surface, but not to pay for increased valuations which the owners may place upon their fuel possibilities. The people of the United States are not proposing to have government handling of mines or transfer of titles. They wish to retain all the advantages of private operation. But they do not intend to pay too big a fee for private ownership.

Second, while the rights of workmen in the mining region to elect their toll to the general level of pay given to labor in similar grade of skill elsewhere is acknowledged, these rights must be kept in a fluid state, and not become a monopoly. In other words, the public, through ordinary social processes, must be able to transfer recalcitrant workmen from the coal regions and employ others there, should a labor monopoly be threatened. This is not wage slavery, it is wage competition within reasonable limits, for the benefit of associated workmen who, in other lines of endeavor, have to pay the bills that these miners charge.

Third, neither side has a right to enforce these principles against the other—only the public has a right to enforce either. We cannot tolerate to have owners of mines refusing to come to terms with their workmen and enforce wholesale evictions, compelling thousands of men to leave their homes for work elsewhere or to die and hungry in the district while competing workmen come in. The public as a whole should have the right to employ this drastic step to prevent labor monopoly. The companies should not be permitted even to consider it. On the other hand, the miners should not be permitted even to consider seizing the mines as a means of enforcing their demands, and the threat to quit work must be restricted to the lowest possible terms. No man can be held to his job against his will. No man should be prevented from joining with his fellow workmen to agree on terms of employment, and the opportunity to quit in concert should be recognized as the final weapon to be employed to enforce due consideration. But this final strike threat, it should be understood, is made against the public and not against the owners. It is the consumer, not the owner, that suffers, if must be for the consuming public, represented in the government, to take proper steps to adjust the differences between cost of production and charge to the consumer.

The steps to be taken for the betterment of industrial relations in the mines are of peculiar interest in these days of unrest. The Eastern states must have coal. There is no theory about this. The miners are very near to the level of unskilled workmen—their problem is that of the great mass of unskilled workmen. The owners are in a position to make exorbitant demands for their raw holdings, if they are permitted. The whole proceedings will be watched hopefully for signs of a more sure path to peace.

200 GALLONS A YEAR

The ruling of the internal revenue bureau that any family may make for its own use not more than 200 gallons of wine is nothing if not administratively liberal. The ruling, to be sure, has no moral relationship to the question of the prohibition law. That law is to be enforced by the U. S. Department of Justice in accordance with decisions made by the courts. But the attitude of the bureau will have much to do with popular attitude toward the enforcement of the law and with the treatment of evasions. One of the possible evasions would be to make liquor for "home" consumption and then sell it out in small quantities. The revenue bureau has, as a part of its administrative procedure, determined that home production is permissible and that it need not be taxed up to 200 gallons yearly. If this ruling is maintained, it will give an official basis to a loose interpretation to the law at a point where it has widest contacts with the public.

Two hundred gallons to the family means that there would be available to all the members a total of about four and a half pints daily throughout the year. Counting a pint as equal to four glasses, this would afford to the family seventeen and a half glasses daily or a glass and a half daily at each of the three meals. If there were but two grown members in the family, each of them could have two glasses or more, with an occasional leave-over for the younger folks. Even conserving a half a glass apiece daily would accumulate a very respectable quantity for friends on holidays and other special occasions. Such a quantity represents something more than government liberality, even personal jocosity, if the wine is of the liberal strength of central California claret and these many glasses should be consumed week in and week out. The internal revenue bureau have surely provided a margin of safety for large families, or else have risked a dangerous outpouring of communal spirit.

BACK TO A REPUBLIC

"Occasionally, among the rainbow idealists on the one hand and the politicians who play stilledowns and jackstraws with the narrow problems of the selfish hour, there arises a prophet and a man. If one desires amusement and instruction in the accuracy of human foresight, and particularly statesmen's foresight, the old and dusty numbers of the Congressional Record furnish a happy crop of examples—both ways.

Nearly two years have gone since a congressman about to retire, voluntarily, from office delivered himself of some notions of common sense. These are pieces of a speech by Martin Dies of Texas, who seems to believe in a stitch in time.

"The great mistake we are making here now," said he to the House of Representatives in January, 1915, "is that we are practicing hypocrisy upon the people. We lead them to believe that the government can support them and lift them by their boot straps out of financial difficulties. As honest men, we should say to them that all the government can do is to protect their life and liberty. . . . You took the American people when they believed they could support themselves and their government, and you are teaching them, hour by hour and day by day, to expect that the government shall by some device support them. . . . My beloved country! I do not know. Am we losing the greatest republic the world has ever seen?"

Mr. Dies is from Texas, and a Democrat. We assume that he belongs to that old-fashioned American order, whose secret password is not "Something for Nothing," but "Colliers."

PEACH AND FIG BOARD VACANCY

Ill Health—Assigned For Resignation of Geo. E. Rice

The resignation of George E. Rice of Redding from the directorate of the California Peach and Fig Growers was accepted at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. His resignation has not been named.

Rice's resignation is said to have been due to ill health. He is in Long Beach under the care of a physician. The board approved the plan for handling the year's crop of figs as outlined by the vice president and general manager, J. E. Nissander. The general manager was authorized to have plans prepared for the construction of a fig and peach packing plant in Fresno. The amount which this plant will cost has not been settled definitely, but it is likely that $20,000 will be spent in the construction.

Find U. S. Marshal's Office Wrecked After Home Brew Blows Up

A scene of destruction appeared when Deputy U. S. Marshal S. J. Shannon, George Hudson, special agent of the department of justice and a clerk entered the Marshal's room this morning. Windows were broken, furniture strewn over the entire floor and papers scattered in all parts of the room.

Broken glass and a liquid with a faint odor, around the floor, showed that there had been a fight. The room appeared to have been struck by a cyclone.

However, the case soon led to the unearthing of the mystery. It was found that a sack containing twenty-five bottles of home brew which had been confiscated, had blown up during the evening and caused the destruction. The great was the force of the explosion, the remainder of the sack was found in small bits. The liquor had been confiscated after it was found to contain several times one-half of one percent volume. It had not been allowed to properly ferment and the rumors gathered with the accompanying result.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN: I will not be responsible for any bills contracted by anyone but myself. CHRIS A. CHRISTENSEN, Attorney at Law, Fresno, Cal. Phone 298.

Foremost American Dancer
to Appear Here This Winter

DADA

America's foremost interpretative dancer who will appear this season before the Fresno Musical Club.

Among the many artistic attractions which the Fresno Musical Club is bringing to Fresno this season is DADA, the foremost American interpretative dancer, accompanied by the Pawling Trio. This attraction is considered by many to be the star of the number of the winter. Speaking of her conception of dancing, DADA has this to say: "The report that there are no more great dancers is wrong, though the music is the sole judge of the success of it. To her, the music is the sole judge of the success of it."

DADA is the daughter of William Schupp, millionaire head of the shipping industries on the Pacific coast, who has offered her a gift of $300,000 and a trip around the world, with a full title to the Pawling Trio estate if she will give up her career.

SCHOOLS TO GIVE "THE MESSIAH"

L. B. Cain to Direct Presentation of Handel's Masterpiece

Perhaps the largest and most important musical work which has ever been performed by any organization is now under way when the Fresno public schools will under the direction of Lawrence B. Cain, assisted by the Fresno Musical Club, Chamber of Commerce, the Merchants Association and other organizations of Fresno county, present Handel's masterpiece, "The Messiah" during the holiday.

The chorus will be two hundred strong. Special invitations are being extended to every church, every high school chorus, and other organizations, professional and amateur singers in the city of Fresno and in all the surrounding territory within the radius of fifty to twenty miles to become members of this chorus.

According to the director, nothing can be of higher value to musical people than to think in terms of Handel's "Messiah" during the holidays, and to this end every church choir in Fresno and vicinity will be asked to do some work with this masterpiece.

In the Fresno high school will be found complete information regarding the chorus, and of this masterpiece. An ample supply of vocal scores of "Messiah" will be on sale at the high school within ten days and at first public rehearsal.

This organization is directly under the management of the Fresno evening high school. From day to day important announcements will be published regarding the chorus, and it is expected that the first rehearsal will be held within ten days.

An Appeal To Fair-Minded Americans

The Japanese Residents of California have been attacked severely and relentlessly, by those anti-Japanese propagandists, who would work hardships on them to further their own political ambitions. They are using the Japanese immigration question as an issue and have so clouded the problem that the Japanese already here are the victims of an effort to drive them from Free America.

Is This Treatment Just or Deserved?

Have the Japanese done anything to deserve this treatment? They do not think they have. They have been industrious, peaceful farmers who have observed all laws and the rights of others, concerned only in the development of lands and production of splendid crops that have contributed to the agricultural development of the state. If they have done wrong they are willing to submit to the will of Californians, but they cannot understand wherein they have offended.

Past Relations Were Friendly

Past relations of Japanese and Americans were always friendly. They worked side by side, toiling in the fields under scorching suns, for the improvement of soil and crops. The Japanese continued to do this since they came here years ago, and now that many of them have improved their own conditions by reaping some of the reward of their toil, are they to be driven from the homes they have made and the soil they have bettered, not without toil and hardship and sacrifice?

Facts Dispute Accusations

It has been said that Japanese are crowding the whites out; that Japanese hordes are pouring in, and that the best land of the state has been taken by them. The fact is that there are only 87,279 Japanese in this state, (according to an official report of the state board of control) and this is but 3 per cent of the total population of the state. With regard to land control, only 26,988 acres are owned by Japanese. Land held by Japanese-American corporations totals only 47,781 acres. This, together with land operated under lease is but 1.6 per cent of the total agricultural acreage, according to Governor Stephen's letter to Secretary Colby.

He will send a mail plane to Modesto for that day. Colonel Jordan of the army air service, announced that every available aerial craft that can be sent will come to Modesto including a big army biplane, Harold "Red" Coffey, Modesto's own air man will be here with his plane.

Modesto to Organize B'nai B'rith Order

MODESTO, October 13.—Plans have been made by the Modesto organization of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith for a $10,000 structure for the Modesto order and the money will be procured entirely from the members without any outside subscription. Substantial subscriptions have already been subscribed by many prominent Modesto Jewish business men. The building will be used as a meeting place for the organization and also for other meetings and will include modern clubrooms and other equipment.

SUNDAY SCHOOL HOLDS RALLY

SELMA, Oct. 13.—The Sunday school of the United Brethren church of Selma, on the corner of Young and Second streets held a very successful rally day on October 10. The goal for which untiring efforts had been put forward, was surpassed in such a way as to make the rally attendance a complete "Over the Top" drive.

A pleasing program was given which consisted of a song by the primary class, songs by the choir, readings, and a closing address upon the Sunday school by the pastor, Rev. L. S. Woodruff. Such a program with 80 per cent increase in attendance proves this church to be awake to her opportunities.

The best seat for the least money. Victory Coal Yard, Phone 1855.
